Respect - Respect for the Individual

(GEAR – working together)

CLQW is committed to:

- a person's right to make real, self-defined choices;
- the provision of supports and resources allowing every person to exercise their rights, privileges, and obligations as full community members;
- enhancement of the emotional, social, educational, vocational and spiritual well being of each individual.

Beliefs

Recognizing the fundamental rights and unique potential of all, CLQW advocates for inclusion of each individual with intellectual disabilities to all aspects of community life.
